

a virtual gathering place

the world is calling YOU...

Do you hear it? The Global Dialogue Center was created in response. It is a virtual gathering place for people throughout the world with a focus on leadership, professional, and personal development. We hold a strong belief that people who are thinking, questioning, exploring new ideas, learning and spending meaningful time together are more effective leaders of organizations, communities, schools, governments, and families across the world—as well as, being catalysts for the change we need to create a better world than we know today. The future is ours to create.

We invite you to join us!

virtual events

We're redefining the notion of what a "virtual event" is around the world. We've learned that people enjoy thinking, questioning, learning and exploring ideas, but how they want to participate takes many forms, including podcasts programs, self-learning exhibits, online dialogues, forums, blogs, seminars and other emerging opportunities for conversation and connection on common ground.
